Link Canada to Plot Arm Jew Terrorists

TORONTO, (CP)—The Toronto Daily Star in a dispatch from Niagara Falls, Ont., Thursday said that "police investigation into the attempt of two men to smuggle German machinegun parts into the U.S., has revealed a plot existed to send them to underground forces in Palestine."

The report added that as a result of investigation an official said that "it is expected that the War Assets Corp., who sold the guns originally to a Toronto man, will tighten up on sales in the future."

Investigation has been conducted by the R.C.M.P. the department of national defence, the U.S. war department and the F.B.I. and the probe "is said to have revealed a wealthy New York man was behind the move to import the guns into the U.S. illegally."

The man was said to have "made a deal with the owner of an engineering plant in the Toronto district to make parts for the machineguns. Arrested as they entered the United States last month, two men who had hidden parts in their automobile are now on bail awaiting trial on charges of smuggling the parts across the border."

The report said that police first discounted the theory that the guns were for use by the Palestine underground "but their investigation now is said to show that plans were laid to have the guns smuggled overseas on freighters."

No-Confidence Motions Lost As House Debate Concludes

One Good Deed Deserves Another

GOSHEN, Ind., (AP)—One transient who stopped at the Salvation Army canteen for a free meal and took part in religious services, sought to repay the kindness.

He left a note on the basement wall which read:

"I've fixed your light meter so it won't register."

British Call-Ups Continue to 1954

By Basil Dean

LONDON.—British peacetime conscription will continue at least until 1954.

That fact became known Wednesday night when the government published its conscription bill. The bill closely follows earlier forecasts of what it would contain and provided no surprise.

All males between 16 and 26 are liable to call-up for service in the full-time conscripts and a further 5½ years in the reserve army, in which they will be required to undergo a total of 60 days "refresher" instruction.

Minors working underground will be exempt, but they must remain in the mines at least until they are 26. Doctors and dentists still in training may defer the call-up until they are 30 if necessary, while apprentices in other trades may be given some deferment if it is considered desirable.

Youths may volunteer to enter the service at 17½ if this would facilitate subsequent entry into civil jobs. The 18 months full-time training period may be shortened if the recruit has absorbed all his training before the period is completed.

The scheme will provide about 200,000 armed recruits annually from 1949 onward. It is designed to maintain the British armed forces at a level of around 1,000,000 men, which will have been reached when demobilization is completed at the end of this year.

Arbitrary Actions Of C.B.C. Rapped

CALGARY, (CP)—The C.B.C.'s announced intention of taking over the broadcast frequency of radio station CFAC and the commercial-sponsored network programs of station CFAC when it proposed station at Lacombe is put into operation was a prime example of "bureaucracy in action," A. M. Cairns, manager of CFAC and president of the Western Association of Broadcasters, declared in an address here Wednesday.

These anticipated moves were a definite contradiction of the principles of free enterprise on which a democratic government was founded, Mr. Cairns stated. They represented the almost unlimited powers granted the C.B.C., the abuse of which was becoming more and more frequent.

The speaker scored the establishment of a radio station at Lacombe as an unnecessary extravagance. Alberta was already well served with radio stations. An additional one, costing $300,000 in itself, would probably cost the C.B.C., and the taxpayers, thousands of dollars more in the way of operating expenses.

The Weather

Forecast: Variable cloudiness today. Cloudy, light winds becoming west 20 m.p.h. tomorrow afternoon. Mild.

Mild Pacific air plus the Chinook effect has brought spring-like weather to southwestern Alberta. At Lethbridge Thursday morning the temperature jumped from 8 to 33 above in one hour. It is expected the mild air will extend as far eastward as Medicine Hat and Edmonton Thursday and move to midway between Edmonton and Vermilion Friday.

Estimated low night, 15 above. Estimated high tomorrow, 35 above.

At Edmonton Friday, sun rises 6:04; sets 6:35. Yesterday's maximum, 22 above. Overnight low, 8 above. Overcast, 91 of an inch.

New R.C.A.F. Commander Confers Here Before Taking Over

Official "handing over" ceremony in which Air Vice Marshal Kenneth M. Guthrie took over as air officer commanding North West Air Command with headquarters in Edmonton, took place at 3:00 p.m. Thursday in the R.C.A.F. drill hall. At that parade, the new A.O.C. received the command from Air Commodore R. C. Gordon, who will leave Edmonton for a liaison post in Washington. Air Vice Marshal Guthrie's new command takes in all of western Canada in a recent reorganization announced by Ottawa. Pictured above is the new air officer commanding seated in his new office at the air base on Edmonton's airport as he conferred with Air Commodore Gordon prior to the official transfer of command Thursday. Civilian guests were invited to witness the parade and to a reception in the officers' mess which followed.

Scream in Car Motor Is Pussy Cat's Foot

NEWARK, N.Y., (AP)—The screech in his car's motor was worse than ever, William Symms surmised as he stepped on the starter.

He stopped it, stepped out to lift the hood—and found a cat with its legs caught in the fan belt. Police freed the animal.

Jury Dismisses Drew Libel Suit

TORONTO, (CP)—The special jury trying the libel action brought by Premier Drew of Ontario against the Toronto Star Ltd. and Publisher Joseph E. Atkinson Wednesday found no libel.

John R. Cartwright, counsel for the premier, announced the verdict on grounds that the trial judge, Mr. Justice Kelly, erred in his charge to the jury.

The case was dismissed, with costs to be paid by the plaintiff. At the request of defence counsel, a 15-day stay of execution of the judgment was granted to permit launching of an appeal.

Premier Drew had alleged that he was libelled personally in editorials published in the Toronto Daily Star from May 25, 1946, to June 2, 1946, inclusive, in connection with charges made by E. B. Joffe, then leader of the opposition in the Ontario legislature, regarding the alleged existence of a "gaspipe" in Ontario. The Joffe charges were made shortly before the 1946 provincial election.

In his three-hour charge to the jury Mr. Justice Kelly said the defence had not pleaded justification. His lordship ruled Tuesday that the circumstances under which the statements were published constituted qualified privilege.

He said that such a statement, no matter how harsh or libellous, can be made if it is agreed it is made in the common interest.

Laborites Crush Churchill Motion

LONDON, (CP)—The labor government's powerful majority in the common Wednesday night crushed Winston Churchill's "no-confidence motion 374 to 196 after an important three-day debate on Britain's economic crisis.

Later, the common approved 371 to 294 the government's white paper plan for recovery for 1947.

The vote came after a bitter attack by Churchill, leader of the Conservative opposition, who accused the Attlee government of "a crime against the British state and people" and of sacrificing the country's prosperity for "a socialist dream or nightmare."

As the debate was winding up, the government was disclosed to be writing a new four-year plan and preparing to assume wartime powers to wage a campaign of economic recovery.

Prime Minister Attlee said coal would be bought abroad in the coming year if it was available. Attlee also was confident of the future under plans worked out in consultation with both sides of industry and willingly carried out under the general guidance of the government.

He said preliminary work had been advanced on the economic plan and "for the first time in our history we are trying to plan for the whole of the people."

The government wanted to keep the armed forces as low as possible, but delays over the peace treaties and difficulties of occupation affected the matter of defence forces.

Truman's Speech Interpreted War on Totalitarian Forces

By Peter Inglis

WASHINGTON.—In its delivery, it was probably the best speech Harry S. Truman ever made.

In its content, it was among the gravest peace-time speeches any American president ever made. In its effects—as became apparent within the hour after President Truman had finished addressing the congress and the people of the United States—it was among the most controversial speeches in American history.

Congressional reaction, which was immediate and wondrous, ranged all the way from the "unanswerable" of Sam Rayburn, house Democratic leader, to Republican Senator Wherry of Nebraska's, "A virtual declaration of war on totalitarian forces."

It was pretty well summed up by the heart-searching of Republican Senator Homer E. Capehart of Indiana: "Are we going to fight the ideology of Communism wherever we find it throughout the world?"

As Sumner Welles, one-time under-secretary of state, put it in a newspaper column Wednesday, Mr. Truman was leading the American people into "The Valley of Decision."

The difficulties he would meet on that journey were illustrated by the reaction of Rep. Harold Knutson, chairman of the house ways and means committee, to Mr. Truman's request that congress vote "a little more than one-tenth of one per cent" of the national income.

Report Bulgaria Gripped by Crisis

ISTANBUL, (AP)—Rumors of a crisis in Bulgaria circulated in Turkey Thursday. Usually reliable sources said a United States diplomatic courier stopped at the Bulgarian frontier was told by a guard, "There is a terrific crisis—I can't say more."

The United States courier, informants said, was refused admission to Bulgaria, despite his pass, by authorities who declared there were under instructions in his case.

These sources reported the Bulgarians were curtailing all movements sharply in a border zone nine miles deep.

Bulgaria closed her frontier with Turkey for 10 days beginning last Thursday. Sofia dispatches two days later said the step was to forestall money smuggling.

Hungary, Korea Good Candidates In U.S. Support for Free Peoples

WASHINGTON, (AP)—War-torn Hungary and occupied Korea loom biggest today on any list of potential candidates for extension of President Truman's declaration of support for free peoples.

Officials of several American government departments already are at work on proposals to help these two countries whose plight—like that of Greece and Turkey—has resulted at least in part from Soviet Russia's expansive pressure.

The foreign help which the United States has extended since VE-Day suggests that a global protection of the policy Truman outlined Wednesday to congress might later include China and Italy as well.

Two-Year-Old Boy Heir to $300,000

SPOKANE, Wash., (AP)—Two-year-old John Fitzgerald, the subject of a court battle between his father and relatives of his dead mother, Wednesday was named the principal heir to the $300,000 estate of his mother, Caroline Fitzgerald Carnahan of Deer Park, Wash., probate filings disclosed.

Relatives of Mrs. Carnahan are contesting a writ of habeas corpus action by which the father, Dr. John D. L. Fitzgerald, Toronto, seeks to gain custody of his son. The mother was given custody of the boy at the time of her divorce from Fitzgerald last year.

Molotov said he knew of no case.

Says U.S. Will Sift Records of 12,000,000

MOSCOW, (AP)—State Secretary Marshall, speaking on de-Nazification before the foreign ministers Thursday, said that the United States "has been disturbed by frequent reports in the Soviet zone of Germany that former active Nazis may be cleared by joining the Socialist Unity (Communist) party."

Apparently speaking to forestall an expected Soviet attack on American zone de-Nazification, Marshall read a three-page statement relating that 12,000,000 persons have been registered for investigation, 200,000 tried and 370,000 removed from office in the United States section of Germany.

The secretary added that the American zone de-Nazification went "far beyond Allied control authority directives," and asserted "there is nothing to conceal."

He pointed out that the Allied control council had not received full reports on de-Nazification in the eastern (Soviet) zone of Germany and added "my government opposes the use of de-Nazification in favor of any political party."

The Moscow radio said Marshall "presented some figures regarding the number of Hitlerites who had been put on trial or were being held pending trial."

"According to his statement some 12,000,000 persons in the American zone have been registered as persons whose records are to be investigated. Having presented these striking figures, however, Mr. Marshall did not say anything about the fact that in the American zone in Germany very prominent Hitlerites are still at large," the broadcast said.

Continuing to intermix its report on Marshall's remarks with statements of Soviet views on Germany, the broadcaster said of Marshall: "Nor did he touch on the question, which has recently been repeatedly raised in the press as to how it could have happened that generals of SS troops are still free in the American zone of Germany—those generals who were implicated in the recently exposed Nazi conspiracy."

Earlier, the radio said the Big Four foreign ministers' deputies agreed to bar from Austria's peace-time army any officer who held the rank of colonel or higher in the wartime army. The deputies met to continue drafting an Austrian peace treaty.

The radio said Marshall proposed four-power unification of German de-Nazification procedure at the foreign ministers' council session Thursday.

Foreign Secretary Bevin told the council that Britain had a list of 40 high Nazis who are holding important positions in Germany's Soviet zone.

Bevin named five of these, saying he read only that many in order to show Allied unity. This evoked some laughter and a witness said Molotov grinned.

Molotov said he knew of no case.

Air Force Fund Reaches $3,000,000

REGINA, (CP)—The R.C.A.F. Benevolent fund now totals more than $3,000,000. N. J. Taylor of Regina, area chairman of the fund, told members of the veterans' affairs committee of the Saskatchewan legislature Wednesday.

"Let me speak to the grocer, please..."

"I wanted to make sure my mommy ordered 'Junket' Renet Powder so she can make part of my milk into rennet-custard desserts... Sure I love 'em! Who doesn't?"

Who indeed, for milk can be given delightfully different texture and a different flavor every day when made into rennet-custards. The rennet enzyme makes it even easier to digest, too. And rennet-custards are non-cooked, so milk keeps all its precious vitamins. The children and your whole family will enjoy rennet-custards—today!

Make rennet-custards with either "Junket" Brand Renet Powder—six flavors, already sweetened; or "Junket" Renet Tablets—not sweetened or flavored—add sugar and flavor to taste. Both at all grocers. Write "Junket" Brand Foods, Division of Chr. Hansen's Laboratory, Dept. N-1, Toronto, Can., for free sample of "Junket" Renet Tablets.

WORTH WAITING FOR!
"JUNKET" Freezing Mix and BRAND Quick Fudge Mix.

"JUNKET" is the trade-mark of Chr. Hansen's Laboratory, Inc., for its rennet and other food products, and is registered in Canada and U.S.

Car Insurance Bill Is Passed

REGINA, (CP)—The Saskatchewan legislature Tuesday passed the contentious Compulsory Insurance bill under which the C.C.F. government will pay after April 1 for automobile damage exceeding $100.

The bill revises the original Compulsory Insurance act passed last year, which gave maximum death and injury benefits of $10,000 to all pedestrians and motorists regardless of negligence, to include the automobile damage compensation.

Production of electric energy in France is now at a record high.

Finnish Delegation Arrives in Moscow

MOSCOW, (AP)—A Finnish delegation, headed by the minister of transport, arrived in Moscow Wednesday to discuss what Finnish sources said was a question of transport through Porkkala peninsula, west of Helsinki.

(Under the peace treaty Finland granted Russia a 99-year lease on the Porkkala peninsula to establish a naval base.)

Italian Assets In U.K. Discussed

LONDON, (ONA)—For the first time in many years an Italian financial mission has come to Britain. The delegation, headed by Signor Menichella, one of the directors of the Bank of Italy, has just arrived to negotiate a settlement regarding Italian assets which have accumulated in Britain since the war.

It amounts to a sterling balance in favor of Italy totalling about 25 million pounds sterling. There is also the question of unfreezing about 11 million pounds sterling in Italian funds which were frozen during the war.

An unprecedented element in the Anglo-Italian trade situation is that Italy today sells more to Britain than it buys. Italy, for example, is selling textiles to this country as well as Mediterranean grain. Several thousand skilled Italian workers will soon arrive in Britain and they will further swell Italian assets here.

It is not believed likely that the present favorable trade balance for Italy will last. The withdrawal of British troops from Italy will help to reverse the situation because British soldiers are now spending considerable sums in Italy.

Canadian Policies Criticized in N.Z.

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP)—Criticisms of some aspects of Canadian foreign policy have appeared in the New Zealand press recently and an explanation on some points by the Canadian high commissioner, Dr. Alfred Rive, met further criticism.

In an address to the Auckland Rotary club, Dr. Rive said Canada would resist any attempt within the British Commonwealth to set up a superior governmental authority.

Dr. Rive said few Canadians were unaware of the dangers to world security latent in development of the atom bomb and deadly poisons. "We believe in the building of commonwealth fire brigades," he said. "But they should be part of the united, universal system."

Commenting on the address the New Zealand Herald remarks: "Why is that Canada, which set such an inspiring example of unselfish commonwealth patriotism in the war, should so ostentatiously avoid any commonwealth obligations or responsibilities in the post-war world?"

2 Freed on Bail In Murder Charges

HAMILTON, (CP)—Awaiting trial on charges of murder, Donald MacLean, 69, and William Bohozuk, 28, Tuesday were released on bail of $5,000 each. It was believed the first time in Ontario legal history that persons accused of murder were granted bail.

Two sureties of $2,500 each were provided for MacLean by friends. Sureties for Bohozuk were posted by Dean R. H. Waterman, Anglican rector of Christ church cathedral and by the accused's father.

Bohuzuk is charged with participating in the torso slaying more than a year ago of John Dick, Hamilton tram operator, and of participating with Mrs. Evelyn Dick in the slaying of her infant child. MacLean is charged only with the Dick slaying.

MacLean said he wanted to eat a good steak. Bohozuk planned to see a show.

If You Are Tall, Don't Cross Legs

CHICAGO, (AP)—Two army doctors warned Wednesday that tall men who habitually cross their legs may develop partial paralysis.

The physicians—Captains Simon H. Nagler and Leo Rungell—wrote in the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association that a study of eight patients had revealed that the habit of crossing the legs had injured the peroneal nerve in the calf muscles.

The authors said peroneal palsy—partial paralysis of the muscles supplied by the peroneal nerve—could result from any occupation that requires crouching, squatting or kneeling because it exposes the nerve to injury. Miners, farmers and coal pickers, because of their work, would be prone to become affected, they said.

U.S. Navy Ends Hawaii Battle

PEARL HARBOR, (CON)—Unrepentant were busy Wednesday consulting battle reports and rolling dice to see who won what in the U.S. navy's first postwar Pacific manoeuvres. But the critique is expected to conclude that submarines are still one of the most effective of naval weapons.

The two-week central Pacific war games wound up this week with a 250-plane aerial "attack" on the fortress island of Oahu, at approximately the same hour that the Japanese struck Dec. 7, 1941. They were launched by the task force 150 miles to the south.

During the games, submarines repeatedly sneaked inside the task force screen to shoot "torpedoes" at three carriers and the battleship Iowa.

The principal difference in this gigantic aerial battle between carrier planes and nearly 200 defending army, navy and marine corps fighters—which I watched from a torpedo bomber—and the Japanese attack was the fact that the theoretical attackers met fierce aerial opposition.

The exercises over the 38 warships of the First Task Fleet, manned by 15,000 men, steamed into Pearl Harbor.

Urges Minister For Mines Alone

OTTAWA, (CP)—A plea for closer government attention to problems of the mining industry was voiced Wednesday night by mine operators from coast to coast who met informally with cabinet ministers and members of parliament representing mining constituencies.

Spokesman for the operators was J. C. Adamson, superintendent of Lake Shore Mines, Kirkland Lake, Ont., who at a banquet Wednesday night urged that the duties of the mines and resources minister "be set apart from those of the branches of immigration and Indian affairs, so that he may devote all his attention to the department of mines."

Stressing that the meeting was not formal and that no formal recommendations were being made, Mr. Adamson said the delegation wanted to bring together operators and members of parliament.

Seven May Contest Quebec Byelection

MONTREAL, (CP)—The March 31 federal byelection in Montreal Carriere shaped up Tuesday night as a seven-cornered fight when Louis Valiquette, who told the returning officer he would run as Independent Labor, took out nomination papers.

Others who have also taken out papers or announced intentions of running are: Maurice Hart, Liberal; Michael Buhay, Labor Progressive; Paul Masse, Independent but supported by Bloc Populaire; Dave Rochon, Independent Liberal; Oni Leonide Gingras, Independent; J. P. Boileau, Independent Progressive Conservative.

Only Mr. Buhay and Mr. Rochon have made the official $200 deposit to run in the byelection, required to fill the seat made vacant through removal of Fred Rose, Labor Progressive member sentenced to prison for espionage activities.

Prisoner Seeking To 'Expose' Prison

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—Alcatraz prison officials have been ordered to explain why Richard A. Neumer, a bank robber, can't take English lessons.

Judge Michael J. Roche Tuesday ordered Deputy Warden E. J. Miller to appear at a hearing March 24 and show cause why the prison held up Neumer's letter to the University of California for a correspondence course in English.

Neumer's letter, prison officials disclosed, said he wanted to learn how to write a book and "expose" Alcatraz.

Name Barbara Ann Honorary Pilot

MONTREAL, (CP)—Barbara Ann Scott's list of trophies and souvenirs is growing. The 18-year-old Ottawa girl who picked up a couple of trophies in Europe—the world's figure skating title and the European crown—just added a pair of wings and a short-snorter bill to her collection.

Barbara Ann travelled from Ottawa to Montreal, for a civic reception, by Trans-Canada Airlines, and on arrival she was met by H. J. Symington, C.M.G., president of T.C.A. Because Miss Scott is an amateur pilot in her own right, he pinned a pair of wings on her coat, commissioning her as an honorary flight captain, Trans-Canada Sky-liners.

As honorary flight captain, she was welcomed into the pilot's compartment, and in a second brief ceremony she renewed acquaintances with the T.C.A. crew which flew her to England and was made a "short snorter."

TORONTO, (CP)—Barbara Ann Scott was so overcome by the enthusiasm of Toronto's welcome Tuesday that she stayed on an extra 17 hours.

Scheduled to leave for her home in Ottawa by air Tuesday night the tiny champion, delayed by a timetable which took her to veterans' hospitals and carried her one hour past the reckoned time, decided to take an aircraft Wednesday.

Men, Not Money

By a vote of 42 to 12, the Alberta legislature, very properly, has voted down the proposal to establish in Calgary a branch of the University of Alberta.

The action was commendable. The reasons given for it were less commendable. For the proposal was studied almost entirely from the viewpoint of cost.

The sponsors of the proposal had cost in mind when they protested that they wanted only the cultural courses, to begin with, courses which would not involve any expensive laboratory equipment.

And the critics had cost chiefly in mind when they pointed out that the project would run into nearly half a million dollars.

What was generally overlooked was that a vital reason for not establishing a branch university is that teaching talent is not available.

Nobody could establish an adequate university with tens of millions of dollars unless he could find the right kind of professors to put into it. And the plain fact is that there are not enough of the right kind of professors available to maintain two universities in this province.

It is men that make universities, not money. It would be easy enough to establish any number of super-high-schools all across the country, as they have been established all across the United States, if that were what was required. But such schools could not function as universities unless they had men capable of inspiring youth as well as of instructing youth.

The greatest function of a university is not to give learning but to give wisdom. Wisdom cannot be bought and sold. It cannot be dishied out by any institution with enough money to erect a few imposing buildings and engage a few men with Ph.D.s.

The Washington Lead

Britain is going to have a Brain Trust—to employ the title—which anti-new dealers applied to President Roosevelt's college of economic planners. So Sir Stafford Cripps informed the House of Commons, with assurances that the bureaucratic set-up will not be allowed to extinguish democratic procedure and transform the country into a totalitarian state.

This assurance was evidently felt to be needed because the memory of Hitler's Reich is still green and because Moscow's standing order of procedure is to launch one five-year plan after another. Because of these examples national planning schemes are associated in the popular mind with dictatorial power. That it was a Democratic president who introduced official plan-makers at Washington, without disaster to the political system, is less well remembered.

Whatever doubts critics may entertain of the outcome, economic or political, it will hardly be questioned that Britain is in a position to make almost any experiment at tempting one. If ever, a country needed to stream-line its economic structure, the British Isles must be it. And if salvation is to be found in planning, even the doubters must hope the device will succeed.

It can be said that the planners are to be sought where the most promising recruits should be found. They are to be picked from the ranks of labor and management. That is, from men who have spent their time learning how to produce to a purpose and how to dispose of the products to the best advantage.

That such men can tell the government how to boost exports to 140 per cent of the pre-war figure must be hoped by every Briton, and by everyone abroad who understands the world importance of Britain recovering a place in the front rank of trading powers.

The Water Cure

A London stomach specialist has announced that he has cured 16 patients of chronic gastric ulcers by giving them daily hypodermic injections of distilled water. The patients thought they were getting some complex medical treatment.

This performance has been hailed as a triumph of benevolent deception and already the more credulous critics have been drawing some pretty sweeping conclusions about the part played by imagination in the curing of disease.

It is a fact that faith in the physician is an essential ingredient of any cure. It is also true that the state of mind of the patient would have an unusually important effect in the treatment of gastric ulcers, since such ulcers are frequently produced, in the first place, by a nervous condition or an uneasy state of mind.

It is true, too, that the old theories of medicine, in which disease could be cured by some specific drug, have almost completely gone by the board.

But if this spectacular incident in London is going to promote any wholesale trickery on the part of physicians, which is unlikely, or is going to give impetus to the activities of long-haired quacks who pretend to treat disease entirely by psychology, it may do a tremendous lot of harm.

There is no doubt that nature is the most successful healer and that nature functions best when the patient is in a hopeful condition of mind. But it is dangerous to assume that these factors are sufficient to adequately combat disease.

This London experimenter has doubtless proved an important point provided no one tries to apply that point to every case or even to a majority of cases.

Security Through Fear

International control of the production of atomic weapons is off the agenda for the time. So is the question of general disarmament. This is the direct outcome of Mr. Gromyko's declaration that Soviet borders will remain closed to any such control body.

If any further interest is shown in the subject in the early future, it will be by the United Nations commission. The Security Council will waste no more time debating a project which Moscow has vetoed in advance. However, when the Assembly meets next fall the matter will be introduced. The shape of a proposed treaty. That seems to be the one chance of action being taken this year—assuming there may be a chance that Moscow would sign such a treaty.

Meanwhile research can go on everywhere, subject only to national laws and administration. Any and every country is as free to manufacture atomic bombs as to produce war-planes and machine-guns.

By the close of summer, it is easily conceivable, there may be enough of these in existence to wreck civilization.

Nobody will know with certainty where these fearful weapons have been manufactured, nor in what numbers. The hope of humanity has to be that the secrets have been so well kept and production costs are so great that bomb-making will only go on in countries where moral responsibility is an effective regulator of national policies and public sentiment.

So far as international control is concerned, we are to have an open season, during which perverted scientists and a vengeance-inspired people could bring disaster on mankind.

It is reassuring in these circumstances to learn that the United States will go right on making the bombs and piling them in storage. Primarily this is a policy of self-defence. But it is much more than that. It is also an assurance to the world that no country will venture to make use of the open season by attacking its neighbors with atomic weapons.

Knowledge that the great peace-loving republic holds a larger supply of the bombs than all other countries combined will be a restraining influence everywhere. For the atom bomb is so fearful a destroyer that if any country should break the truce of fear and start using these, it would do so at the risk of unparalleled punishment. No part of the world is so remote that the United States could regard atomic war there as not being a threat to itself.

He Belongs to Our Day

Rudolf Hoess has been finally placed on trial, at Warsaw. He is not to be confused with the man of similar name who made the solo flight to Scotland in war days for reasons never clearly explained.

Hoess was commandant of the extermination camp at Oswiecim. He is accused of having gassed to death there not less than 4,000,000 persons. The exact number probably will never be known. That was the camp established for the mass murder of Poles. The unfortunate people were rounded up by village and dispatched to the lethal chambers and the cremation ovens.

The world had all but forgotten Hoess. Most readers must have assumed, when they recalled him at all, that he had been hanged long ago. The delay in bringing him to trial is an indication of how busy the courts must have been. And also, no doubt, of the care taken to accumulate and sift evidence in his case. No man ever before faced so terrible an accusation. But for the difficulty of desire to secure trustworthy evidence, he deserved priority before the bar of justice.

The delay may serve one useful purpose. The trial is a fresh reminder that the Hitler regime, with all its horrors, is not a chapter far enough back in history that it is safe to forget about it. A multitude of those who played major or minor parts in those horrors are still alive, and would be killing and torturing people today if they held power. This monster Hoess is not of a bygone age. He belongs to our own generation, and is a specimen of a type that is by no means extinct.

Statistics show more Canadians are leaving the country than there are immigrants coming in. That could be all right too. It depends on who's leaving.

In "At Close Quarters" Colonel Arthur Murray quotes a letter in which Franklin D. Roosevelt tells of a tweet suit he inherited from his father, which he (F. D.) gave to his son James who still wears it when he is in the country. Literally a hand-me-down.

Looking Backward

From The Bulletin Files

1887: 60 Years Ago

Dr. Henderson is about to remove from Calgary to become head physician on the St. Paul M. and M. road.

The concert in aid of the Presbyterian church at Fort Saskatchewan was well attended. Rev. A. B. Baird occupied the chair. The program included songs by Mrs. Walker, Miss Strachan and Wragge, Messrs. Healy, Stiff, Schultz, Ellis, Hogan, Deleuse and Brunette—the last two in French. There were duets by Miss F. Ross and Mr. Forbes, Miss Wragge and Mr. Cassault and Mr. Walker and Mr. Stiff instrumental. Readings were given by Messrs. Martin and Beckwith. Accompaniments were played by Mrs. Ross, Mrs. Walker, Mrs. McDougall and Mr. Deleuse.

The annual meeting of the Edmonton rifle association was held in Joseph Macdonald's shop. Colonel McPherson of the militia department wrote that an order for the necessary ammunition would be issued on the militia stores here on receipt of the price fixed, and that the use of 30 rifles would be allowed. Messrs. W. Stiff and J. A. McDougall were appointed auditors.

1897: 50 Years Ago

The final game in the Hardy cup competition was played between McDonald and Shera's rinks, won by Shera's.

A. G. Randall, town clerk, received a telegram from the department of public works, Ottawa, asking for a copy of the agreement made with the Edmonton district railway company. The agreement is required in connection with the town's application for a grant from the government in aid of the construction of a bridge across the Saskatchewan river.

1907: 40 Years Ago

J. D. Blaney left for Red Deer.

The plant of The Daily Bulletin was completely destroyed by fire.

Alderman Thomas Daly has disposed of his interest in the real estate firm of Daly, Grainger and Company.

1917: 30 Years Ago

Ottawa: Sir Edward Kemp, minister of militia, announced plans for the voluntary enlistment of 50,000 men in Canada for home defence.

Petrograd: Grand Duke Michael abdicated, thus bringing the Romanoff dynasty to an end.

1927: 20 Years Ago

G. E. Henwood, K.C., has been appointed deputy attorney general, succeeding R. Andrew Smith.

Thirty-one acres of the old penitentiary site may be secured by the city for a recreation park.

1937: 10 Years Ago

Officials of the Bank of Canada are making an investigation into the financial structure of Alberta.

Toronto: The legislature gave first reading to a bill which would abolish speed limits on highways outside cities, towns and villages.

London: The 27-nation non-intervention committee will head charges laid by the Spanish Government that Italian troops are serving with Franco forces.

To supply oil to the Eldorado mining district, Imperial Oil will build an 18½ mile pipeline along the turbulent Bear river. The oil will be supplied from the Fort Norman well.

London: Warships are patrolling the Spanish coast, to enforce the non-intervention agreement.

HOW TO TORTURE YOUR HUSBAND

Uncle Sam at Bat

BY ELMORE PHILPOTT

For years I have been trying to show that the age of nationalism is dead—and that refusal to face the fact is the root cause of the world's troubles today.

For several centuries before 1914 the dominant nation in the world was Britain. She had fought, in turn, every other power that threatened to become strong enough to rule the whole world. She fought Spain, the French Empire, and the French Republic. In all those centuries her method was always the same—ways to be stronger than any rival at sea—always to keep potential enemies disunited on land.

This policy conferred some great benefits on the human race. H. G. Wells has described the 80 years prior to the 1914-18 war as relatively the happiest age in human history. I think one could dispute his figures. But his main point was probably right.

HISTORIANS call this pre-1914 period the Pax Britannica—the peace of Britain. It came to an end because of the emergence of Germany, as a single united nation in the very centre of Europe, destroyed the foundation on which it had been built. The key tactic of British balance-of-power strategy was to keep Europe disunited. To do so in this century became impossible and close to suicidal.

The Germans were the greatest paradox of all the great people of the world. In some ways they were the most advanced—in others, the most backward. To win either the first or second war, Germany had to unite Europe. But in both cases her political ideals made her military task impossible.

Had Germany spent even one quarter the effort that she spent in two world wars in peacefully uniting Europe, on the basis of the brotherhood of man, the other principles which were the heritage of "western civilization," she could have gained what the Kaiser and Hitler vainly sought—and she could have done all that without firing a single shot.

THERE NEVER would have been a second world war had the so-called "western democracies" risen to the great moment in human history. I think one could dispute his figures. But his main point was probably right.

Some years ago, writing of the United States as "settling in the mold of its vulgarity, steadily thickening to empire," while "protest, only a bubble in the mass, pops, and dies out, and the mass hardens." Robinson Jeffers, the great California poet, sought to remind his countrymen that the American word was never "en masse" but "interdependence."

If ever there was, originally, a nonconformist people, it was the American—as Lord Bryce was the first to point out. The American was not an individual; a crank perhaps, an eccentric, an eccentric often, but the protection of the eccentric was the mark of American tolerance. It exists still in the more remote communities.

I remember the case of "Bill" in a tiny Vermont hamlet, invaded during the depression by the W.P.A. The village fathers tried vainly to make clear to the uplifting bureaucrat of the agency that Bill was no victim of depression; that he had always been on the sack-of-potatoes, shoulder-of-ham relief with which rural communities kept alive the indigent; and that this fact arose from a peculiarity of Bill's philosophy. "Bill just don't believe in work."

THE WPA administrator was highly indignant and skeptical of such perversity in an able-bodied man and insisted, despite head-shakings of Bill's industrious neighbors, that he be engaged on "the project." The project was never finished for Bill thought it a foolish waste and found an audience for his philosophy. "Them folks just don't understand Bill," said the selectman.

Nobody in the village dreamed of undertaking Bill's reform. If he was willing to risk his existence for his profound conviction, let him.

A PROPOSAL to abolish higher education may, at last, call attention to the fact that the universal growth of literacy is also accompanied by a universal growth of crime, public and private. The highest standard of literacy in any large country was in Germany and it was the products of higher education in medical science who had the

The set-up and politics which the United Nations have now would probably have been sufficient to keep the last peace. Had both the United States and Russia been in the League of Nations, as they are in the United Nations, we would never have had Fascism, nor Hitler. They would either have been kept out of power in the first place, or stamped out like tiny little snakes.

But we are not living after World War Two. The whole dimension of what we need to do has changed.

There would be no point in trying to unite only Europe now—for atomic history has passed Europe by.

MY POINT is that the United States is in exactly the same position today as Britain was last time. Because Britain left un-built what she ought to have built, namely, to unite Europe by peaceful means, she was forced finally to fight another war—the consequences of which speak for themselves, especially to Britain.

The United States must either write the ticket for a new world, based on organized peace under democracy and plenty, or history will repeat itself.

EDMONTON FANS DESERVE A BETTER playoff break in senior hockey than they have received this season. Attendance for the 20 games here averaged more than 5,700 and official figures for the two semi-finals were 5,914 and 6,500. Playoff privileges accorded season ticket holders mean little this year.

True enough the record of the Flyers on home ice was excellent, for winning 18 out of 22 is a performance which leaves little to complain about. Edmonton, however, has been terribly disappointing on the road, taking only five and tying two out of 20 during the regular schedule and then signing off for the season by dropping two more at Lethbridge.

In other words, Flyers won only five out of 22 away from home, and, unfortunately, two of the 15 road losses came in the playoffs. This looks like something more serious than merely a succession of coincidences. In addition, the financial loss accruing to the Edmonton Exhibition Association, sponsor of the team, in not having a club in the playoffs is bound to be heavy.

Lost 13 Out of Last 18

FLYERS MIGHT HAVE WON in Lethbridge last Saturday for they missed enough chances in the first period to have had the game in the bag. They never looked like winners Monday night except early in the second and they did outplay the Leafs during the closing minutes even though trailing three goals.

Injuries have plagued the club all season and must be taken into consideration. In addition, the team seldom has had its entire playing strength available for road trips and the policy of having players on the roster able to take part only in home games should be re-considered.

It also seems odd that most of the losses have occurred since the team started the Jan. 22 road trip. Since that date only one win has been salvaged (1-0 against Calgary on Feb. 8) out of 10 starts away from home. Flyers also lost three out of the seven games on their own ice since that same date. It is understood the hockey committee of the Exhibition Association will be making an announcement within the next few days.

New "Safeties" for New Method

A COMMUNICATION HAS been received from Eastern Canada asking The Edmonton Bulletin to arrange for the presentation of a gold plated safety razor, the gift of the American Safety Razor Corporation, to each member of the team winning the Alberta intermediate hockey championship.

The New Method team, coached by Louis Holmes, won the Alberta title in straight games, taking the first of the final series with Coleman here last Saturday 6-3 and edging out the south divisions survivors on their own ice Monday night by a score of 8-7 in overtime. Leroy Farmer, president of the New Method club has been advised of the award and has expressed appreciation on behalf of the members of the team. Formal presentation will be made in due course.

The razor, which is a new type, is not yet on sale in either Canada or the United States, but will be on the market next fall.

"Elmo" Misses a Final

DON'T BE SURPRISED IF JOHNNY DUTCHAK, now back in the city after playing the season with Saskatoon Elks, appears in the lineup of the Detroit Red Wings one of these days. In any event, Johnny will be attending the Red Wings' school next fall.

This is the first time Elmer Kreller has missed being in a final—Memorial and Allan Cup final rounds being included in the list. Last year, "Elmo", as the Flyers tab him, was with Vancouver Canucks who not only won the Pacific Coast title, but later added the United States amateur.

There'll be at least some goalie changes in the Western Canada senior circuit next season. Jack Manson is said to be slated for Lethbridge Leafs and Benny Simpson of Saskatoon Elks is retiring. The Saskatoon club, which is expected to be under new management next year, appears to be casting covetous eyes in the direction of Johnny Sofiak, but Johnny, who belongs to Chicago Black Hawks, would prefer to spend his last junior year as a junior—and with Canadians.

INTERMEDIATE SCHOOL CHAMPS: Above is a picture of the H. A. Gray hockey team which on Tuesday won the intermediate school championship by defeating Oliver 7-3 in the deciding game of a best of three final. The Oliver sextet had taken the first game of the series, 5-3 but the H. A. Gray puck-chasers came back to win the next 8-6 and then cop the rubber match. In the front row of the photo, left to right, are: Harold Leonard, Donald Scott, Walter Ferber, Elvin Martin and Bob Wallinshaw. Back row also from the left, are: Ted Baron, Ted Clarke, Bill MacPherson, A. R. Brown (coach), Eddy Clifton and Sidney Gaultier. Inset in lower right hand corner is Bob Groulx, who was missing when the picture was taken.

Wings Push Rangers Out of Fourth Place

NEW YORK, March 13 (AP)— Detroit Red Wings pushed New York Rangers out of fourth place in the National Hockey League standings—and possibly out of the playoffs—last night when they scored a 4-2 victory before a Madison Square Garden crowd of 15,433.

The Wings now are one point ahead of the Rangers—a position they have been attempting to reach for weeks. Detroit has only been beaten twice in 12 games. The Wings went into the lead early last night but New York fought back to tie the score twice before two quick Detroit goals in the third period clinched things.

CHICAGO ATTENDANCE GOES OVER 500,000 CHICAGO, March 13 (AP)—Boston Bruins humiliated Chicago Black Hawks last night 8-3 but the attendance set the season crowd total to over the 500,000 mark.

The game flared into fatuities late in the third period with Referee Chadwick assessing wholesale penalties—a major and a minor to Jack McGill, a misconduct to Ralph Nattress, a minor to Alex Kaleta and a major to Bill Gadsby, who scored two goals. BOSTON:—Brismack, Crawford, Flanagan, Cowey, Dumart, Bauer, Sube, Egan, Reardon, Henderson, Carveth, Gallagher, Schmidt, McGill, Marquess, K. ## Calgary Cops First Of West Loop Finals

"Red" Hunter Tallies Three In Late Rally

CALGARY, March 13 (CP)—Calgary Stampede, given an assist by somewhat careless Maple Leafs who committed a pair of costly rule infractions in the third period, got what appeared to be a bad game out of their systems last night but still won 8-4 to move out in front in the Western Canada Senior Hockey League final.

Ahead 3-1 in the first frame and holding a 4-2 lead early in the second, Stampede blew the margin before the second intermission was reached but got back into stride in the high-speed third frame to take the decision.

A CROWD OF 5,109 paying customers saw Ken "Red" Hunter net four goals for the Stampede, three of them in succession while Leafs were short-handed in the third frame, with Doug Grant getting a pair—including a break that will be talked about and argued for many a moon.

Tripped as he was driving for the Lethbridge net in the third period, Grant was flat on his stomach, sliding along the ice, when he reached forward, deliberately got his stick to the loose rubber and guided it into the net split seconds after a fast whistle by the referee sounded for the trip. However, in view of the goal, no penalty was issued and the goal allowed.

REMAINING CALGARY goals were scored by Doug French and Doug Cairns. Joe Fisher, former Stampede, played a starry role for Leafs as he scored twice and assisted on his team's two other goals netted by Bob Love and Bing Jukes, then spoiled his night's work by drawing a misconduct penalty in the third period for disputing too boisterously a tripping penalty handed to Ralph Luke.

Leafs still had the edge for five minutes in the third, after rallying to tie it up in the second, but a penalty to Gray for interference—on which there could be no argument—changed the complexion of the game.

Brownridge carried the puck up the ice from a Leaf breakaway, was dumped in front of the goal but managed to poke the rubber to Hunter who got it after a pair of Leafs batted it ineffectually. The Calgary redhead promptly shot to the right corner from a difficult angle at the left and Stamps were unable to be overtaken.

BEFORE GRAY came back Hunter made it 6-4 with a six-foot shot from Brownridge's pass, then Grant drew a tripping penalty but Leafs were unable to capitalize on their added man-power.

When Luke tripped Brownridge shortly after Dame returned it was curtains for the Leafs.

Fisher was banished for a 10-minute misconduct session along with Luke when he argued too heatedly and Hunter promptly went into action again. From a power play he batted the rubber into the net with a backhand shot, and then Grant finished off the scoring 15 seconds later with his tricky flat-on-the-tummy effort after being tripped.

LETHBRIDGE:—Brennan, Van Daele, Luke, Love, Fisher, Jukes, Sube, Hall, Menzies, Latoski, Harrison, Maxwell, Rimstad, Grey. CALGARY:—Dettell, Michalak, Shoguel, Hunter, Brownridge, Grant, Sube, Cairns, Desmarais, Dame, French, Duckak, Wilder, Emery. Officials:—Danny Cox and Al Pudas. Port Arthur.

Keglers Find Alleys In Obstinate Mood

Moans and groans rent the air yesterday as the Recreation Alleys displayed their meanest streak to date in Edmonton's Five Pin Bowling Association tournament, which moved into the home stretch.

Aside from a couple of cases, the alleys scored clean-cut kayoes over most of the championship aspirants, with only one change being made in the leadership of any event. Tea Pots captured that honor by chalking up a 2,857 score in the Lady Booster teams event.

OMER PALIN of Calgary was one of those who found the proper groove in the alleys and moved right up into second place in the 882 of the previous day. Presty Giffen, a top-ranking bowler, also hit a hot streak, marking up 355 for the best game of the day.

Curves are not unusual sights at bowling events, but the one that Jamie McNabb tosses is something almost unique. Her ball starts on along the edge of the alley, and generally pulls over to the centre pin. Playing with a "game" leg, she gave a good account of herself yesterday, scoring 200, 209 and 182—and in the middle game she blew the last two frames.

MRS. McNABB, who is one of the hardest workers on the Bowling Association executive, throws from the right side.

A number of Calgary players were in action yesterday and more are expected to arrive today and Friday. Allan Bannister, who played senior hockey for Calgary a few years ago, came to town yesterday, but will not see action till today. Allan won the Calgary open singles championship this year with 1244, but admitted yesterday that it was one of those days when everything clicked just right. He is expected to be a potent threat in the Edmonton tourney.

Ernie Ford is setting the pace in the "A" aggregate with 2525, while George Goslin tops the "B" section.

West Enders Tie Pee-Wee Series

West End shut out Ritchie 3-0 in the third game for the Canadian Athletic Club pee-wee hockey championship at Varsity rink Wednesday night.

The two teams are now tied with one win and a tie each and a fourth game to settle the title will be necessary.

DON PEARCE scored all three goals for the West Enders, netting the first in the opening period from a pass by Paul Berkov and counting twice in the third, one on a solo and the other off a relay by Eddie Savage.

Johnny Dutchak, who played this season with Saskatoon Elks, was referee.

Garneau Cagers Win Two Games

Two games were played in the South Side High School Basketball League at Garneau gym Wednesday. Garneau junior girls defeating University High 8-5 and Garneau senior girls winning from University High 20-4.

Marlene Schultz scored five of the eight points for Garneau juniors and Peggy Poff contributed eight of the 20 counted by Garneau seniors.

All-Star Team Picked at Coast

VANCOUVER, March 13 —(CP)— Three players of the Portland Eagles hockey team in the Pacific Coast League were named Wednesday as members of an all-star team for the northern division of the league in a poll of players and fans here. One from each of Vancouver, New Westminster and Seattle clubs make up the rest of the team.

Picked as goaltender by a wide margin was Jerry Fodey of the Eagles, a Regina boy. Defencemen selected were Willie Schmidt of New Westminster Royals, also by a wide margin, and Jack Smith of Vancouver. Schmidt comes from Saskatoon while Smith is a Native of Sudbury, Ont.

BILL KYLE, smooth skating Portlander, was named to the centre slot, while the league's leading scorer, Jim Planché, an Eagle who hails from Montreal, was named to the left boards. The right wing slot was given to playing coach Eddie Dartnell of Seattle, erstwhile Winnipeg star.

Nanaimo Captures Long Overtime Tilt

VERNON, B.C., March 13 —(CP)— Nanaimo Clippers battled through three overtime periods last night to edge out a 7-6 victory over Trail All Stars in the third game of the best-of-five series for the British Columbia intermediate hockey championship. The win gave Nanaimo a 2-1 lead in the series.

Tied 5-5 at the end of regulation time, the clubs fought through a scoreless overtime period and then counted a goal in the second extra session. Bud Goulette won the game for Clippers in the third extra session scoring on a penalty shot at the 2:33 mark.

Port Arthur Cats Lead Senior Series

PORT ARTHUR, March 13 (CP) Port Arthur Bearcats survived a six-man Fort Frances attack in the last 83 seconds of play here last night to score a 4-3 victory over the Canadians in the second game of their best-of-five Thunder Bay senior hockey final. The win gave Bearcats a two game lead over their opponents.

Third game in the series will be played here Friday. Port Arthur took the opener last Monday 7-4.

Escoe Coming Friday To Complete Training

Vern Escoe, Canadian heavyweight title holder whose championship bout with Gordon Grayston takes place at Air Command drill hall next Tuesday night, will arrive in the city Friday thus allowing him four days to complete training here.

Jimmy Cowan, in charge of arrangements, stated Thursday night that so far he had been unable to iron out difficulties preventing Al Slater to go through with the proposed 8-round semi-final with Tony Bogaski.

SLATER, whose featherweight crown would not be at stake, is quite willing to participate in the show which would boost the RCAF benevolent fund, but contractual obligations constitute a hurdle at present.

Should this bout fail to materialize, the Johnny Kos - Alex Bogaski fight will be stepped up to the semi-final and a suitable opponent secured for Tony and arrangements made for a special six-round match.

THE WELTERWEIGHT go between Hee Phillion, formerly of Cornwall and Bill Calhoun of Lethbridge, promises to be a top attraction. It will be four rounds.

Through the courtesy of Supr. Thos. Ferrier, additional buses will run to and from 101 street for the convenience of fight fans.

Loss Is $500,000 In Ottawa Fire

OTTAWA, (CP)—A $500,000 fire flashed through the highly-inflammable contents of the plant of Plastics and Chemicals, Ltd., Montreal, Tuesday and in less than an hour destroyed the building.

There were no injuries as the 40-odd employees on duty were able to leave the one-storey building, although some left overcoats behind in their haste.

Clouds of vari-colored smoke poured into the sky from the ruins and the heavy stamping machinery and plastic presses were a total loss.

The blaze broke out when a short-circuit in the plant's main electric motor flashed fire to nearby piles of flooring ready for shipment.

Land Sale Battle Staged in Ulster

BELFAST, (AP)—Northern Ireland Protestants, using private funds privately administered, plan to extend to Londonderry city a 10-year-old campaign to keep land out of the hands of Roman Catholics.

An Ulster Unionist party spokesman said this plan was the proposal referred to by Prime Minister Sir Basil Brooke in the Ulster parliament Tuesday during an exchange with Nationalist Member Edward McAteer.

"Any person or body of persons are, I think, entitled to defend their own interests," Sir Basil said.

He added that the Protestant population of Ulster had decreased 40 percent under "threats that any person who does not believe in the unity of Ireland should get out."

The Nationalist party seeks union of Northern Ireland with predominantly Roman Catholic Eire. Protestants declared that rich Roman Catholic landowners always were in the market for Northern Ireland farmlands which subsequently were let to Catholic tenants, thereby increasing the Catholic vote in the community.

"It is all part of the campaign to drive the Protestants from Ulster," said Rev. John G. MacManaway of Londonderry.

Roman Catholics have not denied the existence of land purchase funds, but McAteer said they consider Brooke's declaration showed discrimination.

Seek U.S. Sergeant To Present Reward

NEW YORK, (AP)—A prospector who struck it rich in Yellowstone wants to reward a United States army sergeant with half of a gold nugget "as big as an Idaho potato" for his wartime good Samaritan role.

In a letter to the Hotel New Yorker, Peter Schwendt asked help in locating Sgt. Ted Albers of Alaska—who while stationed with Company A, 341st Engineers at Dawson, grub-staked the prospecting of Schwendt and his brother.

Describing himself as former British Columbia roadstead operators, the Schwendts wrote that they want the sergeant "to have his share" of the jackpot they struck. The sergeant, the prospectors wrote, told him he once worked at the hotel, but a search of its records failed to locate him.

Girl, Dog Capture German Shuttle Thief

Yvonne Sola, 10, daughter of Maj. Gerald C. Sola, of Jacksonville, Fla., executive officer of the Frankfurt military government, is photographed with her German shepherd dog which helped her in cornering and capturing a German "shuttle thief" in Frankfurt. Playing in the street, she challenged a suspicious-looking character in German, and when he ran, Yvonne and her dog gave chase, cornering the man in a bombed-out cellar. Police allege he was member of a ring of thieves who stole articles in the British zone and peddled them in the American zone, hence the appellation "shuttle thief."

Falling Snow, Floodlights Fascinate Moscow Visitors

By Ross Munro
MOSCOW, (CP)—The west is meeting the east in a small way as the conference of the Big Four Foreign Ministers settles down to draft a peace treaty for Germany, and the west is generally amazed.

Most of the people who have come here for the peace talks are on their first visit to Russia and most of them never expected anything like what they are seeing in the Russian capital. What Moscow needs is a good press agent. It is a surprising and fascinating city.

At night it is impressive to walk across the floodlit Red Square in falling snow in front of the red-brick Kremlin—a little medieval walled town in the heart of a great city where leaders of 190,000,000 Russians labor. Red neon stars shine from the Kremlin's towers.

At night there is ballet, opera, music, and movies. Theatres are usually packed with music-loving Russians. At midnight the streets are empty with people going home on trolley-buses or trudging through the snow in the below zero night air.

By day new trolley-buses sail along the main streets like clipper ships, jammed with customers. Traffic gradually is becoming a Moscow headache as more cars are produced.

Buildings of downtown Moscow are an eye-opener for any newcomer. Within a few blocks of the ancient Kremlin there are half-a-dozen modern structures that would grace any western city. However, there are plenty of mediocre buildings like in any other city. They have a grave housing shortage here, too.

Outdoor barbers are reappearing in Hankow, China.

Moving of Grain Still Problem

WINNIPEG, (CP)—Chief Commissioner George Melvor of the Canadian wheat board said Wednesday that the rescheduling of the federal government's priority order holding box cars for shipment of export grain "must not be interpreted, . . . as meaning that the crisis with respect to grain transportation no longer exists."

The grain transportation remained desperate, he said, and the only valid reason for abandoning the priority, in effect for two weeks, "is that the railways, on their own initiative, can supply the necessary cars and motive power to move promptly the balance of the 1946 crop."

The problem now is "right up to the railways."

The board has advised the railways that average car loadings of 900 cars a day are necessary between now and July 31 to move present country elevator stocks—estimated at more than 71,000,000 bushels—and expected producers' marketings.

Approve Restoration German Properties

STUTTGART, Germany, (AP)—The German council of states of the United States occupied zone approved Tuesday a law which will restore up to $125,000,000 worth of properties to persons whose possessions were confiscated during the Nazi regime.

The measure required a full year to draft and must have final approval of the United States military government before it is promulgated.

MLA Is Challenged Explain or Retract

"Explain or retract" was the challenge thrown to A. J. E. Leisemer (CCF-Calgary) by Hon. Lucien Maynard, K.C., attorney-general, just after the Legislature opened Wednesday afternoon. Two cabinet colleagues, Hon. A. J. Hooke and Hon. W. A. Fallow, had spoken to a point of privilege and complained that the Calgary CCF member had made misrepresentations in an address to the No. 1 club of the CCF in the southern city, after which Mr. Maynard hurled his challenge.

ALEX M. MILLER

Has Confidence In West's Growth

Company appropriations for advertising have increased substantially over the last year and during the same period there have been several new agencies established in Canada, Alex M. Miller, Toronto, manager of the Canadian Association of Advertising Agencies, said in Edmonton Thursday.

INTERVIEWED at the Macdonald hotel, he expressed confidence that the west would experience a progressive growth in industrial development, particularly Alberta with its wealth of natural resources.

Sponsored in Edmonton by the advertising and sales club of the chamber of commerce, Mr. Miller will speak Friday at a midday dinner meeting in the Club Roosevelt.

THE TOPIC will be on the value of advertising and is entitled, "Are We Important?" On a speaking tour at most of the principal cities in Canada, Mr. Miller will next speak at Vancouver and Victoria before returning east on a scheduled itinerary.

LONG ASSOCIATED in the advertising field, he is former director of advertising for Dodge Brothers (Canada) Limited; the Chrysler Corporation of Canada Limited; Small Arms Limited, and the DeHavilland Aircraft Corporation.

Mr. Miller is also a member of the Toronto Advertisers and Sales Club, and a charter member of the Windsor Advertising Club.

Seeks $1,500,000 Transfer

Urges Part of Road Grant Be Used on Alberta Schools

Suggestion that the government slash $1,500,000 from its appropriation for road construction in the province and make that sum available to the department of education for an increase in school grants was made in the Legislature Wednesday afternoon by Andrew Davison (Ind-Calgary).

THOUGH HE was pleased that the government saw fit to increase its expenditures on roads, Mr. Davison said he was sure most of the people of the province considered education of their children of much greater importance.

After he had listened to the "very labored reply in defence of the lesser appropriation granted to his department" by the Hon. R. Earl Ansley, minister of education, he was more inclined than ever to agree with the suggestion advanced

THE TWO MINISTERS quoted from copies of a Calgary newspaper which said that Mr. Leisemer told club members that there "was political censorship" being practiced on films to be shown in the province. He also had referred to banning of broadcasts by the Alberta Educational Council over radio station CKUA.

Mr. Hooke, first to rise, read from the Calgary paper the titles of three films which had been shown the CCF club and stated that none of these three had been banned.

The CCF member knew, Mr. Hooke claimed, that only two films had been banned from showing in Alberta, both of them on moral grounds and he declared that members should not make untrue statements to the public.

Mr. Fallow read a part of the report which said that Mr. Leisemer had complained that broadcasts had been banned over CKUA.

"THE BROADCAST to which he referred contained a slanderous attack on public-spirited people," Mr. Fallow said. "It can only be interpreted as a CCF attempt to put over CCF propaganda as an educational service."

He said that programs over CKUA were designed to give the people "respite from the political propaganda to which they are continually subjected."

The Calgary member should explain or retract, Mr. Fallow said.

Post-War Fund Payments Listed

Largest outlay made from the $5,000,000 provincial post-war reconstruction fund was $303,265 for highway construction according to a return tabled in the Legislature Wednesday afternoon by Premier Ernest Manning at the request of Elmer Roper (CCF-Edmonton).

THE RETURN disclosed that $2,795,001 of this fund had been spent up to Feb. 28 last. Connected with highway construction was the expenditure of $428,871 for bridges, the report said. For the Grimshaw road, being constructed by a joint arrangement with the Dominion government, $400,871 was expended; Vegreville and Vulcan each received $7,000 for construction of swimming pools.

Other projects receiving varying amounts included the university nurses home, the East Pothole water storage project and stream control.

PURCHASE of aircraft had cost $15,111. It was explained in a return tabled previously in the house that five aircraft had been purchased by the government, but two of them had been sold.

Advances of $450,000 went to the provincial marketing board in connection with the activities of Oil Sands Ltd.

In opening the debate by J. Percy Page (Ind-Edmonton) that Mr. Ansley had failed when he allowed the minister of public works to "grab the lion's share of the new revenue."

If the government would take his suggestion that the road appropriations be cut and the amount given to the department of education, school grants would then total $6,706,000, leaving $7,300,000 for roads, which he said "would be ample to do all the work that can be completed during the current construction year."

Mr. Davison told the government he was "firmly convinced that municipal levies are going to increase at an alarming rate unless and until many of the charges now

Cable Burns, Lights go Out

A burnt out cable terminal in the city power plant early Thursday morning doused all street lights in the central part of the city, and throughout a large area on the South Side, W. I. McFarland, power superintendent, stated Thursday.

Moisture on the cable caused a short circuit which burnt out the cable terminal, and cut off the current to the sections of the street lighting system fed from the power plant. The sections getting energy from substations were not affected. Repairs have been completed, and street lighting was back to normal by mid-morning Thursday, Mr. McFarland stated.

Accident Victim Said Improving

Miss Jo Hollychuk, 10419 92 street, reported critically injured on Wednesday in a highway accident Tuesday night was in an improved condition Thursday morning according to University hospital authorities. She suffered multiple fractures of the skull.

Douglas Brown, 10028 97 street, who received cuts to the face in the accident is said to be "coming along fine."

The two were injured when the automobile in which they were riding, driven by Albert Denning, 10002 131 street, struck the rear of a parked truck on the Calgary highway near the CKUA transmitter station. Owner of the parked truck is Romeo Bernard, Lodge hotel, Edmonton. The accident occurred about midnight Tuesday.

Name Winner Essay Contest

Winner of the annual Dr. J. M. MacEachern essay competition, sponsored by the university Philosophical Society, is Richard Robinson, third year arts student, it was announced Thursday. Mr. Robinson's subject was "The Social Function of the Novel." Receiving honorable mention were Willard Rorke, David Wright, and John Parry.

THIRTY-TWO students entered the competitions, held on the campus on March 1. Many topics were offered, on many phases of modern life and conditions.

Executive for the 1947-48 term of the Philosophical Society has been selected. Honorary president is C. E. Tracy, president J. A. Romney, secretary J. H. Gillis, treasurer L. E. Gads, and student representatives Margaret Mailey, Richard Robinson, and Richard Gordon.

RETIRING EXECUTIVE consists of honorary president Andrew Stewart, president C. E. Tracy, secretary J. A. Romney, secretary L. G. Thomas, treasurer J. H. Whyte, and student representatives Elizabeth Ragg, Archie Greenaway, and Arthur Bryant.

No Charity Racket Operating in City

Edmonton has not been invaded yet as has Calgary, by a group of charity racketeers posing as collectors for the Canadian Corps Association, officials of the Edmonton branch said Thursday.

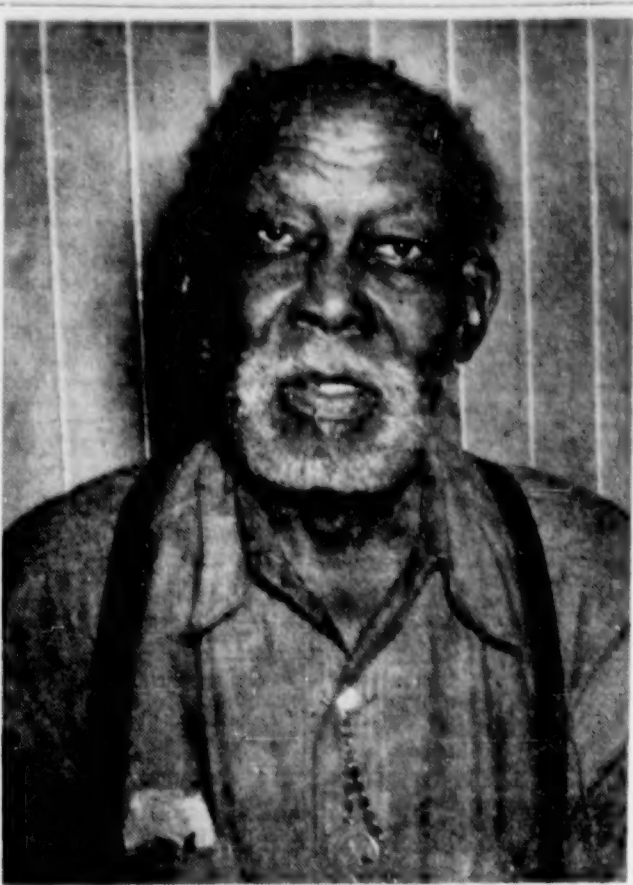

Statements from Charles Kerr, secretary of the Calgary branch, said that collections are "being solicited without any authority whatever from the Canadian Corps or any other group."

Householders in Calgary, said Mr. Kerr, have received telephone calls for contributions to a fund for destitute rural veterans, and have then received visits from the "collectors" who collect the promised subscription.

Accused Argues His Own Appeal

Arguing his own appeal Murray Earle, Fort Smith resident, won a one-day sentence imposed on him for being in illegal possession of firearms, the court reducing the sentence to one of six months to date from time of arrest. The appellant has now served more than five months of the term.

BANK CLEARINGS Bank clearings for the week ended March 13, 1947 amounted to $11,338,990.76, as compared to $11,022,419.34 in the same week one year ago, it was announced Thursday.

Ol' Joe Recalls Fight With Jack Johnson

BY J. V. O'NEILL

There he lay sprawled awkwardly on the slippery floor—unconscious, exhausted and broken, with a face grotesquely disfigured and bruised plus three fractured ribs and a deficit of seven teeth. The end came when his weary opponent uncorked a desperate right cross which, after more than four hours of fight-to-the-finish slugging, smashed under his heart to bring a sudden and merciful coma.

LURID AND GORY as the above may sound this story concerns an Edmontonian who on Wednesday celebrated his ninety-fourth birthday anniversary.

Well known to the city's sporting fraternity and to thousands of others as "Ol' Joe," he is Joe Cotton, one of the oldest negroes in the province, who in his heyday back beyond the rim of the present century took on all comers, frequently blasting out marathon victories similar to the one described.

BUT THE Gnarled old middleweight who in 1901 once fought the great Jack Johnson in Denver was not hesitant in speaking of his defeats as well as his conquests.

One particularly was reminiscent of the first and second engagements between Joe Louis and Max Schmeling.

"It was in Sacramento in 1899," he recalled, as he sat dangling his feet from a large trunk during the interview, "that a tough white man named George Gannon put me away after we slugged it out for 61 three-minute rounds with only one-minute rests between."

What happened after that competition took on all comers, of the same stuff as his modern racial brother, Joe Louis.

"I didn't like that beating," he mused. "We were matched again later the same year."

"AT THE OPENING bell Gannon rushed me and in less than a minute, I let go a left hook which knocked him out," he said, adding, "I finished him quick and we didn't have to work through another 61 rounds."

Born in Middle Texas shortly after the abolition of negro slavery, Cotton followed his father's footsteps as a blacksmith for a number of years, then in 1889 he fought his first bare-knuckle fight at Joplin, Mo.

UNDER THE hammerblows suffered by poor people in the early days, Cotton saw a much more lucrative field in fighting than in working on a southern plantation. His decision was made and the 63 years which have since passed prove that his many fights did not affect his longevity, or even his confidence today in his ninety-four years.

And in case any aspiring claimant to fame in fistiana doesn't believe it, here is what Joe said somewhat challengingly. "I met all comers and I didn't care nuthin' for nobody. As a middleweight I fought as many heavies as middles—and I can still use my dukes if it comes down to it."

HIS "DUKES" looked like sledge hammer heads, and to the feel were just about as solid.

This writer passed over the implied invitation very quickly. "Who is the best of the heavyweights over the last 25 years?" was the next question.

"Joe Louis," he answered, without attempting any biographies. Describing Bob Fitzsimmons as a middleweight, Cotton said he regarded him as the best all-time fighter in that weight class. Fitz later became a light-heavy and then a heavy-weight champion.

JOE FAVORS the intimidation angle of cauliflower row's timeless topic of scandal—your knowles, the Promise of still milder weather for Edmonton is given in the forecast Thursday from the weather office. Variable cloudiness Thursday, a n d cloudy on Friday with light winds at 20 miles per hour Friday afternoon are forecast. High temperature Friday is expected to be 35 degrees above zero and the low Thursday night 15 above.

High Wednesday was 22 above at 11:30 p.m., and the low was 11 degrees below zero at 5 a.m. Temperature at 6 a.m. Thursday was five above.

Snowfall between 8 p.m. Wednesday and 12:30 a.m. Thursday measured one-tenth of an inch.

Twelve Bills Get Third Reading

Third reading was given to an even dozen bills in the Legislature Wednesday afternoon. Only two of these were protested by opposition members.

ELMER E. ROPER (CCF-Edmonton) who had questioned the wisdom of reducing the education standard of nurses entering training made a firm personal protest against the third reading of the bill to amend the Registered Nurses Act. His was the only voice raised in protest.

W. J. Williams (Vet.-Edmonton) renewed his objections to a bill providing for enforcement in Alberta of maintenance orders issued in other countries of the Empire. The bill, he said was "not worth the paper it was printed on." He was the only member to vote against its third reading.

The other ten bills passed were amendments to the Trustee Act, the District Courts Act, the Private Hospitals Act, the Industries Assessment Act, the Tax Recovery Act, the Domestic Relations Act, the Vital Statistics Act, the Municipal Districts Act, the Vehicles and Highway Traffic Act and the Welding Act.

Coal Output Increased

Output of coal for the province of Alberta for December 1946 and January, 1947 was announced Thursday by John Crawford, chief inspector of mines, of the government of Alberta.

Output for December, 1946 was 762,402 tons, bringing a total for the year 1946 to 8,824,455 tons. During December, 1946 a total of 845,425 tons were mined, bringing the yearly total to 7,801,248 tons. This was an increase for 1946 of 1,023,207 tons over 1945.

In January, 1947, 810,048 tons of coal were mined and in January, 1946, 932,931 tons. This was a decrease of 122,883 tons over a year ago.

Wide Variety of Articles Reported Lost to Police

Seven cases of theft involving cash, a radio, overcoat, truck wheel, alarm clock and inner tube were reported by city police on Thursday.

ELMER STOBLY, 11103 94 street, told police that $120 in currency was stolen from his trousers pocket in his room while he slept. Mrs. H. Dupre, St. Paul, left her purse on the counter in a shoe repair shop on Wednesday. She said when she returned later the purse was gone. It contained more than $110 in cash.

A small portable radio was reported stolen from the home of Mrs. J. Kimberg, 10315 95 street, sometime Wednesday. Joe Lim Chow, Calgary, had a brown overcoat stolen from his auto while parked outside a city hotel between 2:10 a.m. and 2:20 a.m. Thursday.

Harry Nolan of Nolan's Cartage Co. Ltd., reported that a tire, rim and tube were stolen from one of the company trucks while parked on 101 street and 169 avenue. The theft occurred either Tuesday or Wednesday.

A report from J. M. Galloway, 12048 81 street, stated that an inner tube was stolen from Chapman Motor Service, 11752 95 street, about noon Wednesday. The alarm clock was taken from the room of Mike Kril, 9014 102 avenue, on Wednesday.

Peace Is Incubation Period for Conflict

"Peace is the incubation period for war," Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, CBE, MC, MM, ED, stated in an address to the university philosophical society on the campus Wednesday evening. He added that such a condition has existed during the last 2,000 years, even though nations have been continually seeking systems for preventing wars.

SPEAKING ON the subject "The Influence of Armament on History," Maj. Gen. Worthington, one of Canada's foremost tank experts, reviewed the changes which have occurred in civilization as the methods for making war have changed. He traced the history of war from primitive man's rocks and clubs, through the spear, armor, and bow and arrow eras to the invention of gunpowder and the breech-loading rifle.

Commenting on World War I, General Worthington stated that if the Germans had pressed the advantage they had gained after their first 1915 gas attacks, the course of the war might have been changed. He used this as an illustration for his topic.

HE MENTIONED that he fought in the first tank battle in the First World War. He stated that tanks were not held in particularly high esteem at the time, but after British armor experts worked on what was then the newest war invention, tanks became potent weapons. "Tanks and the airplane played a large part in defeating the Germany of 1918," he said. He added that the Germans developed air and tank warfare during the peace period, whereas the Allies more or less took those weapons for granted, and consequently Nazi success in 1939 and 1940 was terrible.

In closing, he emphasized that radar, the V-bomb or doodlebug, and the atom bomb have changed modern warfare immensely. "We have now the opportunity to commit suicide," he stated referring to the atom bomb. "Electronics and atomic energy have begun a new era."

Dr. McNally Receives

Citizenship Award For Outstanding Leadership

For "exceptional and outstanding leadership in the field of education and the cultural and spiritual development and betterment of youth," Dr. G. Fred McNally, chancellor of the University of Alberta, and a recent delegate to the UNESCO conference in Paris, was presented with a citizenship award at the dinner meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Wednesday evening at the Macdonald hotel.

THIS WAS the first award of the Junior Chamber made this year. The award, given quarterly, is for citizens who make outstanding contributions to the welfare of the city.

John Cormack, chairman of the citizenship award committee, made the presentation, and in an address to Dr. McNally, traced his contribution to educational life of the city and province.

Remainder of the citation read to Dr. McNally was as follows: "Devotion to the advancement of the community by actively participating in the great work done by the church, Rotary, and educational organizations, with special emphasis on the problems of youth from a Christian approach."

"SERVICE TO YOUR community beyond the call of duty by offering, after a full and successful career, your wide experience and knowledge to the UNESCO and to the University of Alberta."

Dr. McNally spoke in thanks for the award, and briefly on the aims and objectives of UNESCO. J. M. McKenzie, chamber president, was chairman.

Alberta Hard Hit By Car Shortage

Alberta has been harder hit by the box-car shortage than any other province, in the opinion of officials of the department of agriculture. This means that elevators at country points are waiting with filled bins, which must be cleared before warmer weather starts sprouting and swelling the grain.

"It is possible for one car, assigned to the movement of grain to make three trips to the lakehead from Manitoba points, while an Alberta car is making only one," the official said.

Further tie-ups and delays in supply of cars were occasioned by the heavy snows and the traffic tie-ups this winter, and this has been aggravated further by the shortage of cars, following the wearing out of cars during the war when replacements were slow.

Lumber Dealers Discuss Problems

Third monthly dinner meeting of the Edmonton Lumber Dealers Association this year, was held Wednesday night at the Corona hotel, attended by 30 city lumber men.

George V. Watt, president of the association, was chairman. After dinner, a two-hour business meeting was held during which matters relative to the lumber business were discussed.

In Appeal Hearing

Hint Highway Spy Ring

Existence of Russian espionage on the Alaska Highway was hinted at in Alberta's court of appeal Wednesday when G. W. Baldwin, Edmonton barrister, informed the court that W. J. McLennan had told him that his discovery of "evidence" in the Russian espionage case, had interfered with his completion of a number of deals in used equipment for which he had received down payments.

MR. BALDWIN was appointed by the attorney-general's department to interview McLennan, who is appealing against conviction and two-years-less-one-day sentence imposed on him by Mr. Justice Hugh Macdonald on seven charges of false pretences in connection with sales of used equipment from the Alaska Highway.

Mr. Baldwin said the appellant told him that when he discovered the espionage evidence he informed those engaged with him on the equipment deals of his intention to inform the police of his discovery.

THIS RESULTED, Mr. Baldwin said, in the other members disclaiming any connection with McLennan and as a result he was unable to complete the equipment deals. He said the appellant had dealt with a man who was to deliver the equipment.

Counsel said McLennan had asked to be placed in touch with the proper authorities to take his evidence of espionage.

RCMP headquarters said today they had investigated "various reports" of espionage activities on the Alaska highway during the war years, but that none of them had ever proved a link with a Russian network of agents in Canada.

New Way TO GET MORE GOOD FROM VITAMINS

Take them in fortified food—the delicious Ovaltine way!

Of course, the whole subject of vitamins is new. We learn more about them every day. And today, millions are learning a new and better way to take their extra vitamins—more modern, more natural way that can do more good. Discarding earlier methods of taking vitamins alone, they now take them in fortified food!

For latest evidence shows that vitamins do not work alone. They work most effectively in combination with certain other food elements—which are absolutely necessary for best results.

This is the reason so many people are changing to Ovaltine. A specially-fortified supplementary food-drink—it contains—besides vitamins—nearly every precious food element needed for good health. Especially, those elements necessary for vitamin-effectiveness.

For example, Vitamin A and protein are both necessary in cell-building. Vitamin B and energy food act together for sparkling vitality. Vitamin D, Calcium and Phosphorus also need each other. You get them all in a glass of Ovaltine made with milk!

So why not turn to Ovaltine, as many people are doing? If you're eating normal meals, 2 glasses of Ovaltine give you all the extra vitamins and minerals you need for robust health.

Much-Used Phrase "Further Amended"

The words "as further amended" appear 14 times in the preamble to a bill considered Wednesday morning by the railways committee, consisting of the entire legislative assembly.

The bill is the biennial one which extends the time under which the "Calgary and South-western Railway" may commence the construction of its tracks in the south of the province. The company was incorporated in 1918 and was then given two years in that time a similar bill to the one which to start building. Since considered and approved by the appearing Wednesday has been before the legislature every one or two years.

Next time the bill appears before the Legislature unless, of course, construction is started on the railway—the preamble will have one more "as further amended" added to the already imposing list.

The amended bill was approved by the committee under the chairmanship of W. E. Cain (SC Bow Valley-Emprise).

Hog Raisers Feel Labor Scarcity

Though it was possible some farmers had ceased raising hogs because of federal income taxes, he knew of many cases where lack of help had made them go out of the business, the Rev. J. A. Wingblade (SC-Wellington) told the Legislature during the budget debate Wednesday afternoon.

THE PEAK HAD BEEN reached in taxes on the farm population, he thought, instancing many of the direct taxes as well as some of the hidden levies.

He admitted that veterans in the province were often poorly housed, and deplored the situation which made this necessary.

He also pleaded for those older people who made up what he called "borderline cases" not ill enough for institutional care, but still unable to take care of themselves. He thought some type of home should be found for these people where they would receive the care they need.

Construction of the Winfield road for which he had been pressing ever since his election would not come too soon for many of the people who need it, he said.

THE ROAD would be of immense benefit to those settlers who for 40 years had been forced to put up with muddy trails and the poor roads, he said. It would also benefit the rest of the province in that it would make possible the transportation of millions of feet of lumber to help in the construction of homes.

"Of Joe" is 94

where Jack Johnson was said through fear of possible reprisal and even death to have "faked" the loss of his championship fight with Jess Willard.

"I was at that fight," he announced. "It was the biggest fake there ever was in the world."

"I saw Johnson lay down and put his hand over his eyes to keep the sun out."

"I could have licked Jess Willard myself that night; he was the poorest of all the heavyweights."

THUS HE SETTLED most of the questions on qualifications. He had a good word for Jack Dempsey, Sammy Langford, Joe Gans, and the more recent Henry Armstrong, holder of world championships in three weight classes—all at the same time.

In reply to a question asking why most of the best fighters in history were either Negroes, Irishmen or Jews, the old timer went into a long explanation that included history, motive and some philosophy.

Essence of his reply was that all three of the aforementioned races had from time immemorial been under subjection and frequently tyranny, and that the boxing ring gave them an opportunity of letting loose a fierceness and fury which was really meant for the oppressors of their peoples.

"Is that why so many Irishmen are to be found on police forces?" ventured the reporter. He declined to answer this one, however.

Strangely enough for all the batterings he has given and taken Joe Cotton at the age of 94 still possesses most of his own natural teeth, and they are very white for he smokes but little.

Biggest money gate at which he was headlined with Billy Smith in San Francisco back in '92 totalled only $20,000.

"But that was big money in those days," he said.

JINGLING THIRTY-FIVE cents in his pocket, the reporter agreed that was big money in any day let alone back in '92.

The nonagenarian was asked for a recipe of how to live a long time.

"First you've gotta be true to yourself," he answered. "If you can be true to yourself you will be true to everybody."

OTHER SPECIFICATIONS were: Lots of sleep; regular eats; regular exercise; no overindulgence especially in alcohol. (He said he had his first taste of whiskey when he was 51.) He roundly condemned the smoking of cigarettes as being hard on the wind.

He indicated that all these points on long life included the quality of being able to mind one's own business at the right time.

No words could express his voiced disapproval of women who smoke, drink and swear, among other known habits.

Wartime Buddies Business Partners

Friends of service days, Henry Martin Todd, of Edmonton and John Herbert Parks of Calgary, are carrying their companionship into civilian life and have pooled their resources to open business of their own in the city.

Already in operation, the business—manufacturing of custom-made Venetian blinds—is situated at 10995 124 street and there will be eventually, six or seven persons employed in the plant.

They hope to place their blinds in many city stores soon, or to supply all blinds for one particular store.

Both saw service during the war in the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps. Mr. Todd is a former Edmonton Bulletin carrier, was crew carrier champion, captain and carrier champion during the time he delivered papers.

Before The Magistrate

A plea of guilty to three charges of obtaining liquor permits by using false names, also a plea of guilty to an illegal sale of liquor count brought a total fine of $390 and costs to William Yanchuk, 10631 96 street, when he appeared before Magistrate A. L. Miller, KC, in city police court Wednesday.

The accused was arrested by detectives of the morality section early Wednesday, after he had sold a bottle of liquor for $7. A search of Yanchuk's belongings revealed that he had three permits which he had obtained under three different names.

He was fined $300 on the illegal sale count or three months hard labor, and for each of the three other charges a fine of $30 was imposed with an alternative of six weeks imprisonment, the terms to be consecutive.

Kenneth J. Save, Turner Valley, drew a one-month prison term on a charge of housebreaking. The accused was transported to Edmonton recently from the provincial jail in Saskatchewan, where he had just finished a year term for similar offences in that province.

With two companions from Vancouver he broke into a home here last April and stole a quantity of goods. The magistrate said he was being lenient in view of the fact that the accused had just finished a year term for offences committed in Saskatchewan during April, 1946.

The accused said the year in jail had taught him a lesson. The other two will be brought to Edmonton shortly to stand trial.

SC "Totalitarians" Scored in House

When Social Crediters say "We are not anti-Semitic, we are just against the international Jewish bankers," it should be born in mind that this statement is similar to one made by Adolph Hitler, A. J. E. Leisemer (CCF-Calgary), said in the budget debate in the Legislature Wednesday afternoon.

THE HISTORY of Germany and other countries shows that the attack on the Jews leads to one on Mormons or some other minority, then one on the Catholics and one on the Protestants. "Once you start destroying the liberty of any one minority you end by destroying the liberty of all, including your own," Mr. Leisemer told the assembly.

He scored the Social Credit government for what he called the "totalitarian" aspects of its administration, and quoted the "undemocratic teachings" of only one party contained in a special Alberta supplement to the Grade 10 social studies text.

Mr. Leisemer also recalled the charge levelled at the government by Arthur Wray (Ind. SC-Banff, Cochrane) ousted government supporter, who had alleged that the party was now supported by financial aid from the "Big Shots".

THE GOVERNMENT should cease trying to fool the people that it was still making an effort to introduce Social Credit, Mr. Leisemer said. It was well known that the implementation of the Bill of Rights would be disallowed by the courts and advised the attorney-general to forego his "pleasant holiday overseas at the taxpayer's expense".

No relief was offered in school taxes by the $1,500,000 increase in the education grants, he said, since school districts all across the province will have to pay an estimated increase of $2,000,000 in teachers' salaries.

14 Home Building Permits Issued So Far This Month

With the approach of spring the tempo of applications for home buildings permits is increasing and during the first 10 days of March 14 such permits were issued by the city architect's office with a permit value of $66,500. This brings the total to date of permits issued to 65, and the permit value to $164,800.

OFFICIALS of the department stated Wednesday that home building in the city this year would equal that of 1946 if plans formulated by contractors for the erection of homes here can be carried through.

They stated that present plans of a group of contractors call for the erection of 1,500 homes, and several contractors not in this group already have bought a substantial number of home building sites through the city land department.

In addition to the sales by the department to contractors more than 200 lots have been sold to private individuals who intend to erect homes.

CITY COMMISSIONER D. B. Menzies stated that work on the installation of sewer and water in the Strathcona Place subdivision was nearing completion. This area which lies between 76 and University Avenues and 110 and 115 streets, is being re-subdivided to increase the lot frontage to 40 instead of the 33 feet under the previous subdivision plan.

The new plan will be registered in the near future, Commissioner John Hodgson stated, and approximately 250 lots in the area will then be placed on the market.

In the meantime S. H. Campbell, superintendent of Edmonton's emergency shelter-bureau said there were 2,000 applications for accommodation on file, but added that the situation had eased considerably in recent months.

THE HOME building permits issued were: E. G. Hutchings, 8809 94 street, $4,500; K. Yusep, 10611 102 street, $5,500; C. Nowlisky 12119 67 street, $4,000; J. A. Englehart, 10708 71 avenue, $4,000; E. Overland, 10802 69 avenue, $3,500; W. Kruger, 10802 122 street, $5,000; C. W. Dean and Son, two houses at 10641 and 10637 128 street each costing $5,000; E. Vasey 10102 83 avenue, $5,000; Ruth Finley, 12133 83 street, $3,000; Carl Johnson, 9727 90 avenue, $5,000; W. D. Williams, 11230 80 street, $5,000; Mrs. G. L. Blackburn, 11327 87 street, $5,000; and Jasper Agencies, 10936 127 street, $6,000.

Radio Official Goes to Regina

Gil Seabrook, Edmonton radio-man for 16 years, will leave soon for Regina to accept a promotion at radio station CKCK. Mr. Seabrook has been on the CJCA staff for the larger part of the sixteen years and is one of Edmonton's most experienced radio officials.

He entered radio in 1931 as an employee of CKCL, Red Deer, and when that station was transferred to Edmonton, Mr. Seabrook was one of the transferees.

He was then employed with CJCA and later went to CERN. After two years in the Army and one year out of the industry, Mr. Seabrook returned to CJCA five years ago.

Mr. Seabrook's radio experience covers practically every department, including continuity writing, production, announcing and sales. He has been promoted to the position of Commercial Manager at radio station CKCK, Regina, where he succeeds Jack Savers, also formerly of CJCA. Mr. Savers has been transferred to CKWX, Vancouver, also as commercial manager.

Both were based on propaganda and the same propaganda was used to convince the Christian community.

Better to Marry Before Age of 20

NEW YORK, March 13.—(CP)—American girls have a better chance of getting married before the age of 20 than those in Canada, Australia, New Zealand or the Western European countries.

Statistics of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company said they found that one American girl out of eight is married before the age of 19 and 18 or about 12 percent.

In Canada and France the proportion is six per cent.

Reconciliation Very Important

BY STUART UNDERHILL

LONDON, March 11.—(CP)—The place of importance once held in community life by the matchmaker may one day be taken over by the "reconciliation" service.

"THE RECONCILIATION" of estranged parties to marriage is the latest service offered by the matchmaker, as well as to the parties and their children—a service which the state itself should do all it can to assist.

The report of a committee appointed by the government in June 1946 to examine British divorce law.

The report lists as the principal aims of a proposed marriage law:

1. TO MAKE available a sufficient number of suitable persons to give advice and to see that their availability is generally known.

2. To encourage young people to seek competent advice in preparation for marriage.

3. To encourage married couples to seek competent advice as soon as serious conflicts arise.

4. To attempt reconciliation whenever a break has occurred.

COLLIER BREAKS UP ON MAINE COAST DURING POUNDING ATLANTIC STORM

BRITISH TOMMIES GUARD AGAINST NEW TERROR IN TROUBLED HOLYLAND

THE MILK COMES THROUGH—When snowbound highways and railroads around Cobleskill, N.Y., threatened to halt milk deliveries, Lloyd Spaulding (above) got out his horse-drawn sleigh and made it to market. He even had room for Jean Collins and Frances Kern.

ACME PHOTOGRAPHERS GET AWARDS—Gen. Courtney H. Hodges, Commander of the First Army Area, poses with Acme photographers Charles Seawood (left) and Harold Siegman (center) after presenting the former war correspondents with War Department certificates of merit and theater campaign ribbons. Both served in the European Theater. Presentation was made in N.Y.C.

HIGH SPEED—Herman Lukoff looks over an electronic discrete variable computer (EDVAC for short), displayed in New York City. EDVAC is 1,000,000 times faster than the human mind and capable of memorizing 1000 10-digit figures at a time. It will be used to solve mathematical problems in atomic energy and supersonic research.

WALLOPED—Paul Dukes, 56, a Cleveland, O., short-order cook, says his wife used the sawed-off rolling pin concealed in the paper bag he holds (above) to give him those cuts and bruises. Haled into court, his wife said bag held only her swim suit.

HARD AGROUND—Washed within 150 yards of the shore off Cape Elizabeth, Me., the collier S.S. Oakley L. Alexander is at the mercy of the pounding, storm-driven Atlantic. A 75-foot wave snapped off the vessel's bow but the Coast Guard managed to rescue the 32 members of the crew by rigging a breeches buoy between the ship and the beach.

HOLLAND STYLE—Gerrit Teunissen still wears a pair of real Dutch wooden shoes on his arrival in New York City from Holland. Arne Anoordan, five, seems to be a lot more critical of the style than his brother, Marcus, nine.

HIS OWN BEST PILOT—The Shah of Iran, Mohammed Reza Shah Pahlavi, takes his duties as Commander-in-Chief of the Iran Air Force seriously. Here he poses in Tehran at the controls of his own plane. He is a qualified pilot.

LUCKY—These two young Greek war orphans have been adopted for a year by a U.S. movie company through arrangement with the Greek War Relief Association. The Association hopes to find foster parents for 60,000 homeless Greek children.

WEATHER GETS BLAMED—Hard-packed snow on the rails is believed to have caused this locomotive wreck at Lancaster, N.Y. Three persons were injured, none seriously.

PRECAUTIONS IN PALESTINE—From behind a sandbag barricade, a British rifleman warily watches comrades check the papers of a truck driver before permitting the vehicle to enter a guarded zone in Jerusalem. Note the raised hood on the truck, where a search has been made for concealed explosives. Youth at right with bicycle also awaits approval.

Has no Right To Interfere With Wife

Dear Miss Dix: I am an ex-serviceman, with a wife and one child. Now, after three years I have returned from the service and have my former job back, and we are very happy except for one thing. My mother expects me to say her the same attentions as I did before I was married; to go to see her every day and let her dominate me as she did when I was a child, and especially she feels that she has a right to rear our baby and run our home.

My wife is loyal and true, all that any man could wish for, but my mother continually finds fault with her and is forever coming to me with petty grievances, beside talking about her to her friends of the family about the way she is raising the baby.

I am at a loss to know what to do. Let my mother nag me and break up my home? Or stand by my wife who has borne my child and who is helping me in every possible way, and whom I truly love? Mother is making a nervous wreck of my life as well as myself. Should I have the backbone to stand by my rights, that is my wife and child? Or should I give in to my mother? Whenever she is frustrated in anything she wants to do she gets sick and has to go too bed.

A Bewildered Son

Answer: When a man marries, his paramount duty is to his wife and children. There is no argument on that score. Particularly in your case you are bound by every consideration of honor and loyalty to stand by your wife, because she has always been true and loyal to you and has committed no fault whatever.

I DO NOT think that anything in life is sadder than the fact that so many selfish and possessive old women wreck the happiness of their children, break up homes, and deprive little children, just to gratify their own whims. The cruellest, meanest person on earth couldn't do more harm, and yet these are pious old ladies who go to church and have the nerve to think they are Christians.

Take your own case. You have a wife you love and who loves you. You have a happy home. You have a little child. And all that your mother has against your wife is that she doesn't approve of the way she feels the baby, and that she wants to keep the baby with her. Can't you see how weak and cowardly you will be if you give in to your mother's desire of domination when it will mean the wreck of your whole scheme of life?

Don't do it. Have a frank talk with Mother, and tell her the truth for the first time in her life about the wrong she is committing. And don't hold your punches because she threatens to go to bed and be sick. She isn't sick. It is just her alibi to get her own way.

Dear Miss Dix: Should people who cannot have children marry, even when they love each other dearly? What is their chance for happiness if they do?

Answer: Why not? Childlessness is only a bar to the success of a marriage when one of the high contracting parties wants children and the other one doesn't. But it is a matter that should be fully discussed and agreed upon by every engaged couple so that there shall be no disappointment if there are not babies.

SOME OF THE happiest couples in the world are men and women who have no children, and who lavish all the love that they have to give upon each other.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am 54 years old and my husband is 30. We have been married seven years and have got along very happily together, but now some of my children, who are older than my husband, have come to live near us and he acts so differently to me that I am thinking about leaving him. Could it be because of the difference in our ages? He says he loves me very much.

Worried Wife

Answer: I think that any woman, who can keep a husband 24 years younger than she is, in love with her for seven years, must be a glamour girl for sure, with the powers of fascination that are miraculous. Evidently your husband feels no attraction towards the baby-sitters, so don't worry about them. Just set his restlessness down to a passing mood, and let it go at that.

But, of course, you must have realized when you married your youthful husband that you were taking a risk.

ANIMALS WITH BACKBONES

(1) The Five Major Groups As you know, all living things may be divided into two great groups—animals and plants. Each of these groups is further divided into smaller groups.

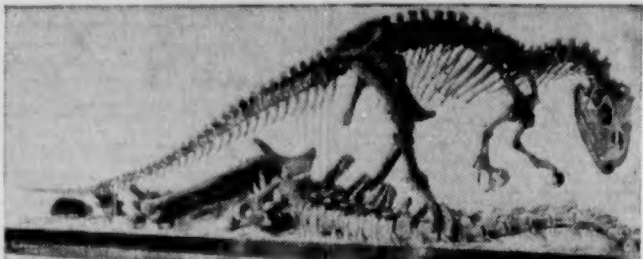

If we were to look over all the animals on earth, we should find that some of them, including human beings, have a backbone. We call these vertebrates (backboned animals). Animals that have no backbones at all we call invertebrates (not-backboned animals).

There are some animals, such as the lancelet or amphioxus, and the tunicates, that stand between these two great groups. These are called the lower chordates and have only a gristle-like rod instead of a backbone.

There are five major classes of backbone. The names of the five classes of animals with backbones are the Fish, the Amphibia, the Reptiles, the Birds and the Mammals. The great class of fish is represented by the goldfish. The amphibians are represented by the spotted frog. The snake (or turtle) is a reptile. The canary represents the birds; and the dog and cat are mammals. Animals that do not have backbones (the invertebrates) are not at all like these. They may be quite soft and slimy, like an earthworm or a garden slug. Others have impressive suits of armour, like the lobster and some insects. Snails, oysters, scallops and clams are backboneless animals that live in shells.

Many of these invertebrates are very important indeed. Lobsters and crabs are important as food. A bee is most important for the honey it gathers. Mosquitoes, unfortunately, are important too, because some carry dreaded disease.

Skeleton of the allosaurus, an ancient dinosaur or reptile.

animals that have backbones. We would need only a very small menagerie to show us one animal of each of these five kinds. One is a goldfish swimming about in a bowl of water. Next, is the common spotted frog. Then, in a box, is a garter snake (but you may have a turtle in your box if you would rather). Fourth, is a canary singing in a cage, and fifth, is your dog or cat.

It may seem that these five animals do not have very much in common. The goldfish cannot even breathe the way the others do, and the only one that can fly is the canary.

However, all five of these animals have backbones, and so they belong to the great group of animals known as the backboneed animals or vertebrates. There are very great differences among them, of course. The fish gets its life-giving oxygen from the water by means of its gills, but the others breathe the air. The fish, the frog, the turtle and the snake are all cold-blooded. The canary and the dog and cat are warm-blooded. But the possession of a backbone makes all of them very different from all animals that do not have

The lowest form of vertebrate animal is the fish. A few fish, such as sharks and rays, have cartilage or gristle in place of a spine made of bone. Most fish, however, have very good backbones, with many little bones attached to them. The backbone of a fish is excellently suited to a life of swimming in the water by movements of the tail and body.

Not every animal living in the sea is a fish. Starfish and barnacles, for example, are not fish, nor are the jellyfish that float in the ocean like saucers turned upside down. Such sea creatures have no backbones and are classed with the invertebrates; but a true fish is one of the vertebrates. The mighty whale is not a fish, even though it is a vertebrate and lives in the sea; it looks like a fish, but it breathes air and so it is a true mammal.

Tomorrow we shall tell you about the other vertebrates besides the fish.

Why Grow Old?

Actress Nina Foch is testing the shade of her lipstick. Josephine Lowman urges you to experiment with your makeup, too, until you have found the perfect blend.

By Josephine Lowman

The variety in shades of powder is now so great that every woman can find one which is truly flattering to her. Since this is true it is too bad that so many women miss their best bet in this matter. Yet we still see women who look as though they had fallen into a flour barrel or a raspberry patch. This is probably due to the fact that many women do not realize what a tremendously big difference a shade of powder can make. It is often the difference between a petal-like appearance and a shallow look. Then, too, extensive experimentation involves quite a bit of time and money. If you live in a large city your problem is easy, because you can go to the cosmetic counter of a large store, and experiment there. Even in smaller towns this is often possible. If this service is not available in your community you will have to do your own research. Many women mix powder, finding that two certain shades when blended, make the perfect combination for them.

The color of the rouge you use is also of the utmost importance to you. Here are a few general rules to follow:

1. Women with thin dry skin should use a light weight powder while those with oily skins require a heavier one.
2. Many women wear powder that is too pink. Very blond, pink and white complexions, use this best.
3. Brunettes require a darker powder with less pink and more yellow.
4. The Rachels are good for many women.
5. When applying powder put on more than you need and then use a powder brush to remove the excess.
6. As a woman grows older a softer shade of lipstick is usually more becoming to her.
7. The result is unattractive when there is a clash between lipstick and nail polish. The two should be, at least, similar in tone. If you wish to have my leaflet No. 50 "What's Going On?" about makeup, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

Your Baby and Mine

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Any mother with two children of nearly the same age, finds it difficult to convince them of the advisability of sharing their toys with each other. Children have to learn the advantages of unselfishness, and it is not a swift process.

Mrs. D. N. says her two boys are 1 1/2 and 3 1/2 years old. "They are selfish with their toys. But except for an occasional spat they play fairly well so long as one does not bother the toys of the other. A friend of mine has two children whose age differences are the same as mine. She uses the following system.

"When the younger child wants something the older one has, she immediately takes it from him and gives it to her. Do you approve of this? I am leery about trying such a system not knowing exactly what influence it would have on the older child. She is now doing this with a third child."

You are right to be dubious. It is essential for every child to learn the meaning of personal property. He cannot learn this except as he has possession of his own, of which every member of the family is respectful.

If his possessions are taken from him at the whim of some younger child, then there is nothing to prevent him from demanding and expecting to get whatever he wants from a child older than himself. You can imagine what disappointment will be his when he discovers that his mother's is no universal system.

Also, why should his seniority be penalized? He should consider it an advantage to be an older child. In this family all the advantages are on the side of the juniors, a fine way to impress the child with the profit to be exacted by remaining a baby.

No, this is neither a just nor a successful way to help the child evaluate the benefits of unselfishness. Giving up his toys is forced upon him, and does not emanate from his own desire.

Let him enjoy his possessions to the full. Let him discover that he enjoys some satisfaction if he and brother trade toys. Later still he will not have to insure a trade, he'll recognize an emotion of satisfaction when he shares what he has with him. There is no way of leaping over these initial steps to unselfishness.

Our leaflet No. 60 "Selfishness and Jealousy" may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with this request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

Points for Parents

Father: "Mother, come here and get this boy. He's covering himself and everything else with paint — and I can't accomplish anything with him around."

Father: "Get into these old overalls, Sonny, and we'll paint the porch furniture. You start on this little stand... I'll show you how deep to dip your brush."

The disadvantage of being slowed up in a task by allowing a small child to help, is far over-balanced by his pleasure in participation, and the happy parent-child relationship which working together engenders.

Appeals for Wider Immigration Plan

By John Bird

OTTAWA. — An urgent appeal to the government to loosen up its immigration policies was made Tuesday from the Liberal benches. It came from none other than Walter Tucker, parliamentary assistant to the minister of veterans' affairs and Liberal organizer in Saskatchewan.

Mr. Tucker said that every one believed Canada to be a land of unbounded possibilities. "One of the richest areas on the earth's surface." There was no question but that immigration would have to be encouraged later; then why not sooner?

Meanwhile Canada was losing an unique opportunity, with 800,000 refugees waiting in concentration camps for displaced persons in Europe. These people were ready for Canada, he said. "They have picked themselves as desirable immigrants for Canada by virtue of the fact that they are in these camps because they are against totalitarianism, against Communism and so on."

Mr. Tucker made a special plea to the government to admit the families of Europeans who, by the recent slight relaxation of regulations, were permitted to enter Canada as agricultural, mining or lumber workers. It was not right, he said, to ask a man to leave his wife and family behind in unsettled Europe.

If Canada did not act soon, she might well miss the boat, Mr. Tucker indicated. The Scandinavian countries, Britain, and the countries behind the iron curtain were not likely to permit much emigration. That awaiting band of 800,000 displaced persons offered the best immigration manning pool likely to be available for years.

Mr. Tucker, speaking of freight rates in Canada called attention to the greatly increased cost of rail hauls because of the unproductive stretch of track between industrial Ontario and Winnipeg. He wanted freight rates to and from the west cut down by treating this expensive haulage area as a "bridge," for the cost of which the whole country, not just the west, should pay.

Examine Charges Of C.P.R. Excess

OTTAWA, (CP)—Express charges of the Canadian Pacific Railway were under examination Wednesday, at the board of transport commissioners' inquiry into the railways' application for increased freight rates.

C. N. Ham, traffic manager of Canadian Pacific Express company, was questioned on the competitive rates of his company, a C.P.R. subsidiary.

M. A. MacPherson, Saskatchewan counsel, asked him if the fact trucking charges were controlled in Manitoba and Saskatchewan put the express company in a better competitive position than in Ontario and Quebec, where truck rates are not controlled.

Mr. Ham said the express company was in a better position to meet the competition when it knew the charges truckers were assessing. It could meet the opposition "in a more regular way."

Questioned about express company operations not included in a company financial statement introduced Tuesday, Mr. Ham said its pickup and highway freight services earned about $2,000,000 a year.

Dead petrels recently littered the beaches of North Island, New Zealand, for the first time in 14 years, following heavy weather at sea.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harper, reunited after 17 years. At that time the couple agreed to separate on Guernsey Island. Mrs. Cloris Fella Harper sailed for Canada in 1930 and after a year's correspondence, heard nothing of her husband. Believing him dead, she married in 1932. Last October Jack Harper located her when he needed her signature to sell some property. The Hamilton, Ont., woman and her original husband decided to go back together again, so Mrs. Harper applied for and was granted an annulment to her second marriage. The Harpers plan to reside in Buffalo, N.Y.

Meat Production Declines in 1946

OTTAWA, (CP)—Statistics on Canada's meat output in 1946 showed a decline of 14.7 percent from the 1945 output.

Main decline was shown in hog production, which fell from a peak of 1,503,000,000 pounds in 1944 to 1,312,000,000 in 1946 and an estimated total of only $24,000,000 pounds last year. Output of beef and veal at 1,185,000,000 was six percent below 1945 while mutton and lamb production actually showed a slight increase.

Canada's eating habits followed closely the production changes. While beef consumption increased 2.6 pounds per capita, pork consumption dropped 13 pounds. Veal consumption was 1.4 pounds less than in 1945 while consumption of mutton and lamb was 4.8 pounds per person compared with 4.7 in 1945.

The Canadian Press reported that a Liberal senator attacked the "deadly deliberation" of government immigration policy Tuesday night and called on Canadians to "quit kidding ourselves, that a visa to Canada is a ticket to heaven."

With the prompt support of the leader of the opposition, Senator Arthur Roebuck, Lib., Ontario, uttered a powerful call for an opened door to selective immigration rather than the current "strict and inexorable interpretation of narrow rules despite circumstances of appalling hardship."

Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader, backed him in urging particularly the admission of friends and relatives of Canadians who could and would accept continuing responsibility for them.

U.K. Storms Claim 1,000,000 Sheep

LONDON, (CP)—The United Kingdom's program of enlarging the country's livestock herds has received a shattering blow at its start with an estimated 1,000,000 sheep dead in storms and the worst lambing season in history in prospect.

Government and farm organization spokesmen here said reports from rural areas were incomplete and some farmers were finding sheep had survived long periods in snow without food "but it looks bad."

One London newspaper, the Daily Telegraph, said it was estimated one-third of the sheep in England and Wales were dead from exposure — an estimate which would mean more than 3,000,000 casualties.

In Scotland, where there are nearly 9,000,000 sheep of the hardiest breeds, losses are expected to be somewhat less.
